Making a difference this Summer

About Blesma

Blesma, The Limbless Veterans is one of the oldest military charities in the UK. We exist to support our Members for life. Just as we are still caring for our Second World War generation, we also care for our younger generation from recent conflicts who have survived complex trauma injuries and will need a specialised service as they age. Blesma does not receive any government funding, so we really do rely on the support of the community to enable us to continue our vital work.

Join in the fun!
